Philippine Development. the Philippines in ways of peonage is still accepted by the masses, who unless protected by Americana would fail ready victims to the rich and educated Philippine minority. The American policy he says, should be continued to completion, for "until that time all proposals for independence are pleas for national recreancy on our part, and for the repudiation of the heavy and difficult burden which thus far we have been bravely and consistently sustaining. Even more is it unjust to the great masses of Filipino people, in whose behalf the high-econding slogan of 'Liberty' and 'independence' is shouted. After having been for centuries sunk in isnorance and held in economic subjection, they are now being aroused to self-supporting manhood and being welded into national solidarity. Along this line, and along this line alone, lies the true port of liberty and independence. The closing chapter of the report deals with the Panama Canal, of which the official date of opening is set for January 1: 1915, it is the intention to allow vessels to utilize it as soon as possible—probably during the latter half of 1911. The secretary states that while he still believes the United States can repay to its to American vessels using the canal, he is etrongly of the opinion that such remission of tolls be not granted, as they are necessary.

Brother-in-Law Denies He is Coming to St. Louis. Annoyed by the Case.

St. Louis, Mo. December S.—John T. Milliken, the wealthy brother-in-law of Albert T. Patrick, Ceclared that he knew nothing of Patrick's plans, that he was virtually done with his brother-in-law. He will furnish him with the evidence which he says will aid him in proving his innocence, but will not help him in any other way. He denied that Patrick would come to St. Louis, and said that he did not know whether he would go to Denver to visit relatives.

After hearing the letter Patrick would come to Judge Olcott. Milliken said:

"I am through with the whole affair. I have helped Patrick to obtain his release from prison, and told him not to try to force the probating of the 1900 will of William Marsh Rice. I am going to tell him when I see him the way to exonerate himself fully then I will have no further interest in the case.

Will Appear to Testify in "Dynamite Conspiracy" Trial.

Indianapolis. Ind. December 8.—
About twenty of the defendants so far unheard to-morrow are to begin their testimony at the "dynamite conspiracy" young Boris, the heir apparent to the throne. Understanding how much more popular it would be if his descendant were to belong to the same creed as his people, the then Prince Ferdinand came to Rome to ask the Pope's permission to have Boris turn Orthodox. Pope Lee, however, indignantly refused, so the prince brought about his conversion without permission, and immediately afterward, in a spirit of reprisal, visited King Humbert at Rome, thus being the first Catholic sovereign to set foot in the Qurinal after the fall of the temporal power. Those still to appear in their own behalf against the government's charges that they aided in the Mc-Namara dynamite plots by causing explosives to be transported on passenplosives to be transported on passenger trains illegally are John T. Butler. Buffalo, vice-president of the union; Michael J. Young Boston; Frank C. Webb, New York: John H. Barry. St. Louis, J. E. Munsey, Sait Lake City, and Eugene A. Clancy, San Francisco. Attorneys for the defendants stated that scores of new witnesses have been summoned to testify as to the reputation of the union officials for "peace and quiet."

Chicago, December 8—That the time has not yet come for the horse to pass into obscurity on account of the automobile was brought out at the International Live Stock Exposition at the Stock Yards.

"The horse may pass out of every other business, but he will never be supplanted in the army," said Major-General William H. Carter, who has just assumed command of the Central Division of the army here. "I probably have made every experiment possible with the automobile in its use for army service, and my conclusion is that it will never be able to do the work now being done by the horse." "The horse soon will be restored to his former importance," said Professor Carl Gay, of the Department of Animal Husbandry of the University of Pennsylvania. "The automobile is becoming so common that fashionable people are already going back to the closed carriage, with handsome livery and pair."
